SUMMARY

AI solutions builder with 15+ years delivering software implementations to business customers, and hands-on experience designing agent-based architectures, prompt engineering, and evaluation frameworks that run in production. As founder of Solenzo, I build the autonomous AI systems that drive real client outcomes, then own delivery end-to-end for a portfolio of accounts. New to regulated reporting and compliance domains specifically, but comfortable working at the frontier of what AI can reliably do and turning it into something repeatable.
