SUMMARY

Business analytics professional with 15+ years translating ambiguous business problems into data-driven decisions across marketing, CRM, and operations. Diagnoses performance issues end to end, from a client's Google Ads account through to the on-site CRO fix that was actually holding back conversion, then reports findings in plain business language. Builds and deploys GenAI and agentic AI prototypes daily at Solenzo, translating loosely defined business intent into working automation. Direct retail-industry experience building e-commerce presence for established retail businesses at Wix and managing a retail-vertical partner book at Birdeye.
