SUMMARY

Account and support professional with 15+ years translating technical systems for both technical and non-technical audiences, most recently building and troubleshooting AI agent workflows and API-integrated CRM systems at Solenzo. Comfortable owning a small, high-touch book of accounts and being the technical point of contact customers trust. Deep API/SSO-level debugging (HAR files, network traces, SAML) isn't yet part of the toolkit, worth saying plainly, but the pattern of quickly building technical fluency on a new platform is consistent across the last 15 years.
