Re: Client Success Analyst

Dear Hiring Team,

I've worked with agencies from both sides. I've been inside two performance marketing agencies, Level Agency and Fetch & Funnel, and at Birdeye I managed 15 to 20 reseller partners, including agencies, as their main liaison to our internal teams, retaining all but one, roughly 94%. Being the glue between an agency and the platform it buys from is a role I know well.

The analytical side is daily work for me. At Level Agency I built reporting on ROI, CAC, LTV, and conversion and turned it into clear recommendations. At Solenzo I run Google Ads hands-on, build dashboards in Power BI and GA4 with SQL behind them, and use Claude every day to work through data. I'm comfortable with pay-for-performance math and with telling a client plainly whether a campaign needs more budget or a different strategy.

I'll be upfront that talent acquisition is new territory for me; I haven't sold into TA teams or recruitment marketing agencies specifically. I'd learn how they buy quickly, and I'd welcome a conversation about your agency book.

Sincerely,

Joshua Rotenberg
