SUMMARY

Operations and client-service leader with 15+ years managing teams and resolving escalated issues for clients who depend on getting accurate answers. Directly managed and developed a team of up to 20 people, built the coaching, performance-review, and process-improvement discipline that comes with it, and has a consistent record of translating complex systems into clear guidance for both employees and clients. No direct benefits-administration or financial-services background specifically, worth stating plainly, but the underlying skill, leading a team through complex, judgment-heavy casework and improving the process as it goes, is the same one built across a 15-year career.
