Re: Growth Manager, Paid Media

Dear Hiring Team,

You're looking for someone who runs paid media inside the platforms, builds the tracking themselves, and trusts their own data over the platform's recommendations. That's how I work. As a solo founder at Solenzo I don't have an agency behind me, so the campaign build, the tracking, and the read on what's working are all mine.

On Google Ads I've cleaned up a client account to cut spam leads and improve click quality, then traced the remaining drop-off to the landing page instead of buying more traffic. At Level Agency I designed A/B-tested LinkedIn campaigns for small, researched audiences, advised clients on budget allocation, and reported CAC, LTV, ROI, and conversion to senior stakeholders. I'm Meta Ads certified, and I set up Google Tag Manager and GA4 tracking and the CRM integrations behind them, the foundation for the attribution you want stood up. I also write the ad copy and landing pages myself.

I'll be direct about the main gap: I haven't managed anything close to a $5M annual budget, and I haven't run YouTube or TikTok programs. If the team is open to a hands-on operator who builds the measurement foundation first and scales spend as the data earns it, I'd welcome a conversation.

Sincerely,

Joshua Rotenberg
