Absorb Software
Re: Account Manager, Emerging Growth

Dear Hiring Team,

I'm applying for the Account Manager, Emerging Growth role. My resume carries more years than the posting asks for, so here's the direct reason: the work I'm best at, and the work I want, is inheriting a book of customers and growing it. Expanding adoption, finding the upsell that fits what the customer is actually trying to do, and keeping renewals from becoming a surprise. That's this job.

At Birdeye I managed 15 to 20 reseller partners with deals from $10K to $45K and retained all but one, roughly 94%, by watching utilization data for adoption gaps and stepping in before they turned into churn. At Wix I held 120% of sales targets while onboarding 25+ clients a month, and at Accelo I ranked top three of 8 to 15 reps while quota roughly doubled. At Accelo and in my own practice today, I write the proposals and statements of work myself, and most recently I've used them to expand scope with clients I already serve, the same land and expand motion your posting describes.

The learning side of Absorb is familiar ground too. At Wix I ran weekly training, 1:1 coaching, and workshops for onboarding teams of up to 30, and at Accelo I ran product workshops for client teams. I know what an L&D buyer is trying to get out of a platform because I've run that training myself. I'd welcome a conversation about the Emerging Growth book.

Sincerely,

Joshua Rotenberg
